COMMENCEMENT OF THE TERM.

The regular annual course of Lectures in the Medical Department of the Lind University will commence on the Second Monday in October next, and end on the First Monday in March following.

PLAN OF INSTRUCTION.

Each College Term will consist of two departments, essentially distinct from each other, but combined with the greatest degree of uniformity. The first, called the Junior Department, will embrace full courses of Lectures and Demonstrations on the following branches: skin diseases, diseases of the nervous system, diseases of the respiratory and alimentary systems, diseases of the heart and blood vessels, diseases of the liver, stomach, and intestines, diseases of the skin, diseases of the bladder, diseases of the kidneys, diseases of the ears, diseases of the eyes, diseases of the nose, diseases of the throat, diseases of the teeth, diseases of the mouth, diseases of the heart, and diseases of the brain.

The second, called the Senior Department, will embrace full courses of Lectures on the Principles and Practice of Surgery, Surgery, Anatomy, Gynecology and Diseases of Women and Children, Diseases of the Skin, Diseases of the Head and Neck, Diseases of the Heart, and Diseases of the Nervous System.

The College will consist of two departments, each of which will be divided into two classes, and each class will be subdivided into four sections. Each section will be under the charge of a Professor, who will be responsible for the instruction given in that section.

The College will be open to all students who are able to pay the required fees, and who are disposed to receive the instruction which is offered. The fees will be $200 per annum, payable in advance, and the term of attendance will be one year. The College will be open from the first Monday in October to the first Monday in June, and each class will meet at 9 a.m. on the first day of each month, and will be dismissed at 5 p.m. on the last day of each month.
